Showers will occur in New England; showers followed by fair in the lower Lake region and the Middle Atlantic States.

OUTLINES.

The banks will supply the Treasury Department with gold in exchange for legal tenders. —— Z. G. Simmons, a leading Republican and the wealthiest man in Southern Wisconsin, has declared for Bryan and Sewall. —— All of the Kansas City banks have ceased paying out gold; the bankers say depositors will withdraw their deposits in gold and hoard it in the belief that it will go to a premium. —— The Kansas Populists are opposed to endorsing the Democratic platform and ticket nominated at Chicago. —— Improvement in the navigation of the Waccamaw and Pee Dee rivers, in South Carolina, is reported by the engineer in charge. —— Mr. Vanderbilt's condition continues to show improvement. —— The report of the Inter-State Commerce Commission shows an increase in railway mileage and revenues. —— No place has yet been selected as the Democratic National headquarters, but the chances are that Washington will be chosen. —— Etta Robbins killed A. J. Call and daughter, fatally wounded another daughter and seriously injured two children on a shanty boat on the Ohio river, near Huntington, W. Va. —— John Harris, Jr., shot and fatally wounded his uncle at Savannah, Ga. —— Senator Jones, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is engineering the Bryan boom at St. Louis; he insists that not only shall Bryan be nominated, but Sewall also; in return for Populist and Silver support, one member of each party will be placed on the Democratic National Executive Committee. —— The gold reserve has declined to $89,761,336; the Administration will keep the reserve up to a point of confidence if a new bond issue is necessary; if the national banks come to the relief of the Treasury a bond issue may be averted altogether, certainly for the next few months. —— Colorado Republicans will support Bryan and Sewall. —— The Seaboard Air Line makes a sweeping reduction on all business to Southern points from New York, Boston and Philadelphia; President Hoffman of the S. A. L. says they are in the fight to stay. —— New York markets: Money on call firmer at 2@3 per cent.; last loan 2, closing offered at 2; cotton dull; middling gulf 7⅜c; middling uplands 7⅛c; Southern flour dull and easy; common to fair extra $2 00@2 60; good to choice $2 60@2 90; wheat—spot dull and easier with options; corn—spot spot dull and easier; No. 2 32⅜c at elevator and 33⅜c afloat; spirits turpentine quiet and steady at 24½@25c; rosin dull but steady; strained common to good $1 60@1 62½c.

That Butte, Montana, woman who spilled a pint of vitriol on a supposed rival was extremely extravagant. She might have used a squirt gun and saved about a half a pint of the stuff for some other supposed rival.

There is one pineapple plantation near Fort Meyers, in Florida, covering thirty acres, from which 80,000 pineapples will be shipped this year. Fifty more acres will be added to the plantation next year.

Herr Most doesn't believe in free silver. He draws the line on free beer. As the Democratic Convention was silent on free beer, Most says "the Bryan and Sewall combination will get no anarchistic votes."

Some of the doctors contend that hydrophobia is simply a nervous disorder. The gold men who are talking so rabid haven't been bitten by anything. Their nerves are rattled somewhat, that's all. They'll get over it.

Mr. Whitney, of New York, declares that under no circumstances will he support or vote for the Chicago ticket. But he will not remain at home to jump on it, but will resume his European excursion where it was broke off. This presents Mr. Whitney a prospect of a more serene time, if not more fun. This would be a good time also for Mr. Eckels to retire to Europe and grab some much needed rest. The strain on him must be fearful.

The Louisville Courier-Journal, having said that in the Chicago platform "the doctrine of a tariff for revenue is abandoned," corrects its error by supplying the word "only," which was omitted. The correction was proper, but the C. J. has made a good deal worse breaks than that lately. In fact it seems to prefer the break style.

The New York Times has at last discovered what an "honest" dollar is, viz: "a gold dollar of the present standard of weight and fineness." The silver dollars and all the other dollars are simply shams. Talk about silver monometallism. How is that for gold monometallism? But we expect that the Times still takes silver on subscription.

Mr. McKinley has discovered since the Chicago convention that patriotic citizens have a duty and responsibility greater than for many years, and that about the only way they can fully demonstrate their patriotism is by getting together--and voting for him. Wm. is modest.

THE CAMP'S THE PLACE.

EVERYBODY VISITED THE SOLDIER BOYS LAST SUNDAY.

Rev. A. D. McClure Delivered a Fine Sermon—Large Crowds Took a Dip in the Surf—Dress Parade in the Evening—Many Strangers in Camp—The Health of the Troops Excellent—Cape Fear Camp Confederate Veterans Will Visit Encampment To-day.

STAR HEADQUARTERS,
CAMP NADAL, July 19-20, 1896.

Sunday morning broke beautiful and bright over the tented field of Camp Nadal.

The Rev. A. D. McClure, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, chaplain of the Second Regiment, delivered an able sermon in the morning, a large crowd attending, and all decidedly pleased with the exercises.

Large crowds visited the beach and took a dip in the briny deep—many went fishing and sailing, while large numbers of the "piously inclined" visited the churches.

Dress parade was formed in the afternoon, Col. Walker Taylor in command. The companies showed up in much better form than on Saturday and it was very evident they had profited by the experience.

It was in the cool of the afternoon, the setting sun casting its dying rays over a scene of martial beauty, the cannons booming and the monotonous tramp, tramp of the soldiers, the sharp, quick commands of the officers, the brilliancy of the uniforms and the quick, thrilling "two steps" of the gallant band, all blended into a scene, which few can afford to miss.

Crowds of Wilmington's business men rushed away from their heated homes to the cooling breezes of the Atlantic and the white tents of Camp Nadal. At dress parade many of Wilmington's fairest daughters lent beauty to the scene by their presence and cheered heartily as the companies marched by.

Though Sunday was very quiet and little real military work was done, yesterday the boys settled down to it with a vim. With company drill, battalion and dress parade, the men accomplished much. They are showing up well and too much can not be said in praise of the gallant and learned instructor, Lieut. Jadwin, U. S. A. He has taught the boys lots, and under one so well versed in military manœuvres and so devoted to such work, the Second Regiment cannot fail to make progress, and will, we predict, be the best drilled regiment in North Carolina.

Many strangers visited camp yesterday, the Charlotte company entertaining in their usual royal manner large numbers of their people, who had taken advantage of the cheap rates offered by the Seaboard Air Line to visit their gallant soldier boys in camp.

The following was the detail for yesterday, viz:

Officer of the Day Capt. T. M. Lee, Co. A; Officers of the Guard, 1st Lieut. T. M. Anderson, Jr., Co. F; 2nd Lieut. J. A. Morrison, Co. C.; Sergeant of the Guard—Sergeant Frostick, Co. E; Corporal of the Guard—Corporal Matthis, Co. D; Corporal Lancaster, Co. B; Corporal McKoy, Co. F.

This morning Major Warren delivered a lecture to the officers on official correspondence, papers and books pertaining to the State Guard. Tuesday Maj. T. R. Robertson will lecture on "What constitutes a successful company."

Wednesday Lieutenant Colonel Walker Taylor will lecture on "Aid to civil authorities."

Cape Fear Camp, United Confederate Veterans, will arrive in camp to-morrow. Col. Bruton has appointed Col. Taylor to receive them. Company B (the Lumber Bridge company) will meet the veterans at the depot and escort them to camp. The company will be under command of Capt. Cobb, who is a Confederate veteran.

Little Virginia Taylor, the Daughter of the Regiment, is in camp.

Tuesday, Capt. J. J. Freeland, of Co. E, will be Officer of the Day; Lieutenants E. H. White, of Co. C, and O. H. Giddins, of Co. A, will be Officers of the Guard; Sergeant Garner, of Co. G, will be Sergeant of the Guard, and Messrs. Beaman, Metts and Walker will be Corporals of the Guard.

CAMP NOTES

All of Capt. T. M. Lee's friends will be glad to note an improvement in his condition. He has been indisposed ever since his arrival; but wouldn't let go the command of his gallant Sampson boys.

Henry Peschau, Eddie Mc and J. D. III, took in Masonboro Sunday.

The boys are delighted over the prospects of having some really good music next Wednesday night.

It is rumored that the Second Regiment Band will give a concert at the Carolina Yacht Club Wednesday night. It's a good thing, boys; so shove it along.

The "staff" held a meeting last night; there was a "full" attendance.

The "Eat-'Em-Up Club" was on a rampage yesterday. They were in good trim and challenged the whole camp.

Frezier, of Charlotte; he of music fame, is strictly in it.

Bromo Seltzer don't stand a show.

Ed. Warren is doing good work, catering for the W. L. I. boys. He feeds them on the fat of the land.

Dr. Anderson, Surgeon of the Second Regiment, feels highly elated over the health of the soldier boys—not a serious case yet; only headaches.

Adam Empie passed through camp Sunday afternoon.

Old Pat Hardy pulled in Sunday. Glad to see you, Pat; you must be careful, however. Wilmington has more pretty girls than Charlotte. All you Hornet's Nest boys know Pat Hardy's reputation as a "masher."

J. D., III, is doing good work as Sergeant Major of the second battalion. Keep it up, old fellow.

The 2.30 Sunday train was literally packed and jammed—large crowds of business men rushed away from the heated city to enjoy a whiff of the cooling salt breezes and to see dress parade.

At the Mayor's court Sunday afternoon Bailey Fennell, who was arrested by Hoggie Turrentine, was fined one gal. of water.

The following was posted on a tree near by the W. L. I. headquarters:

Sunday school at 3 p. m., Miss Jennie Few Clothes will lead the class. Inspection at 4 p. m. By order Capt. R. H Cowan.

Sunday was a lovely day; bright sunshine and not too warm to be unpleasant; the breeze was delightful and the tide very high.

Sergeant Cardwell was fined three gallons of water (?) for dress parade yesterday afternoon. He failed to pay it.

The following dined with the Hornet's Nest Riflemen Sunday: Miss Ella Thompson, Miss Emma Lowring, Miss Jessie Preston, Miss Maggie Duffie, Mrs. A. B. Yandle, Mrs. T. T. Sprinkle, Mrs. M. L. Frazier, Mrs. J. H. McGinn and Mrs. T. C. Skinner.

Lieutenant Rountree, of the Wilson company, is voted a "brick" by every member of the Wilmington Light Infantry.

If the private who so unfeelingly kept the corporal of the guard last Friday night chasing up and down Northrop avenue will make himself known he will be lynched by the said corporal.

Skeleton McKoy and his jumbo bicycle do the Siamese twin act up brown.

Private A. F. Williams, Jr., and H. D. Fanior dined to-day with Mrs. A. T. Black at Ocean View.

The moon shines brightly for the soldier boys, but notwithstanding Capt. Northrop claims it as his honeymoon.

Tommie Wright tried to run the lines Sunday night, but the guard popped up and serenely quoted, "You can't lose me, Tommie."

Drummer J. S. Tomlinson, of the Wilson Company, is right here with legs, breadth and thickness.

Capt Jas. Smith, the gallant and clever Quartermaster of the Second Regiment, is a great favorite with all the boys.

A. B. Solomon, formerly of Wilmington, is in camp with the Hornet's Nest Riflemen.

"Old Hoss" Gillican and "Funny Bob" Cowan are a team hard to beat.

Privates Bradley and Boatwright have been missing every train between Wilson and Wrightsville.

The STAR'S reporters, Messrs. Cowan and Bellamy, were in camp bright and early yesterday morning, picking up "camp notes."

"Dock" Vick is sojourning at Wrightsville now. "Dock" was shaking hands with old friends and schoolmates at camp yesterday.

Miss Wendenburg, of Richmond, and Miss Masten, of Winston, were among the Sunday visitors at camp.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Rice Thrown from a Buggy on South Front Street.

A serious accident occurred last night about 9 15 o'clock on South Front street.

Mr. F. B. Rice, city clerk and treasurer, was driving with his wife in a buggy down Front street, when some part of the harness gave way and the horse ran. When opposite Front street market house the vehicle collided with a mail box post, breaking the box to pieces and throwing Mr. and Mrs. Rice out of the buggy. Mrs. Rice fell on her back; Mr. Rice was unable to get up. They were carried into Mr. J. H. Hardin's drug store, where they were attended to. Mr. Rice was bruised very badly on the right side of his face and on his hip. Mrs. Rice, beyond being badly shocked, was all right. They were sent to their home in a carriage and at last accounts were doing well.

The shafts of the buggy were broken completely off. The contents of the mail box were strewn over the streets, but were picked up and carried to the postoffice.

BY RIVER AND RAIL.

Receipts of Naval Stores and Cotton Yesterday.

Wilmington & Weldon R. R.—8 casks spirits turpentine, 58 bbls rosin, 2 bbls tar, 10 bbls crude turpentine.

Wilmington, Columbia & Augusta R. R.—1 bale cotton, 23 casks spirits turpentine, 289 bbls rosin, 38 bbls tar, 6 bbls crude turpentine.

Carolina Central R. R.—18 casks spirits turpentine, 62 bbls rosin, 6 bbls tar, Steamer E. A. Hawes—73 casks spirits turpentine, 223 bbls rosin, 25 bbls tar.

Total receipts—Cotton, 1 bale; spirits turpentine, 114 casks; rosin, 631 bbls; tar, 71 bbls; crude turpentine, 16 bbls.

Knights of Pythias Will Escort.

The Knights of Pythias, Uniform Rank, will act as escort for the Confederate Veterans to-day. They will be accompanied by their drum corps. After dress parade at Camp, and headed by the Second Regiment Band, the Knights will escort the Veterans in their call on Mrs. "Stonewall" Jackson. This will be an affecting scene, and will revive memories of one of the saddest incidents of the late war.

Any New Subscribers.

A great many new subscribers to the DAILY STAR have been coming in during the past six weeks. Not a day passes that new names are not added to our lists, both from city and country. The STAR'S bold and earnest advocacy of the cause of the people and its low subscription rates are helping along the good work. A highly encouraging feature of the increase is the fact that a large percentage of the new subscriptions come without solicitation.

Another Excursion.

The excursion that came in yesterday was quite a large one. It was from Bennettsville, Hasty, Maxton and other points along the C. F. & Y. V. R. R. and was run by Messrs. McKinnon and King.

The excursionists arrived at 10 a. m. and went to Ocean View, where they spent the day taking in the sports and pleasures of that much frequented resort. They left on their return home at 7.30 p. m.

RALEIGH NEWS ITEMS.

POPULISTS COMPLAIN AT THE COURSE PURSUED BY SENATOR BUTLER.

Many Farmers Are For Bryan and Do Not Hesitate to Say So—They Charge that Butler Packed the St. Louis Delegation—Democratic State Executive Committee to Meet this Month—N. C. Pharmaceutical Association.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

RALEIGH, N. C., July 19.

I asked Harry Skinner if the North Carolina Populists intended to present Judge Clark's name at St. Louis for the Vice Presidential nomination. Mr. Skinner replied that he did not know, but the plan was, he said, to choose the Vice Presidential nominee from the South.

There is said to be much complaint among the Populists at the course that is being pursued by Butler and the North Carolina delegation. Many of the country farmers are for Bryan and they do not hesitate to say so. At Wakefield, this county, a number of them allege that Butler purposely avoided having county and district conventions for the purpose of selecting delegates to St. Louis in order that he might pack the delegation with county officers and committees who are under dominion of the boss. They claim that the delegation does not represent the will of the North Carolina Populists.

Mr. Walter Murphy will be the Democratic nominee for the Legislature in Rowan, so people from that section say.

The Democratic State Executive Committee will meet here either the 28th or 29th of this month, according to the present arrangement. The meeting will be a very important one.

Mr. J. S. Inge, who has been master mechanic of the shops at Burlington since their re-establishment, has been appointed to the same position in the shops at Columbia. The Southern's new shops at Salisbury will be completed this week.

Raleigh doctors practice on 20,000 people. A physician tells me that there is less fever here this season than ever. There have been only two or three cases.

The North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association meets at Morehead Wednesday. The Board meets to morrow to examine applications for license.

Excursionists Coming.

To-day a large excursion party is expected from beyond Charlotte on the C. C. R. R., and to-morrow Bogart's excursion from Greensboro and other points on the line of the C. F. & Y. V. R. R will arrive at 8.30 p. m. This party on arrival will take passage on the steamer Wilmington for a trip down the river and out to sea, returning about ten o'clock that night. There will be over 600 in this party, who will want accommodations in the city Thursday night, and will find it difficult to secure quarters unless private boarding houses, as well as hotels, throw open their doors to them. With the two excursions mentioned above there will be in the city to-morrow night probably 800 or 1,000 visitors.

A Small Fire.

There was a small fire at the residence of Capt. J. I. Metts, on Second street between Walnut and Red Cross yesterday evening at 6 o'clock. Some bedding was burned but no other damage done. Capt. Metts and family are at the Sound and it is supposed the bedding was set on fire by some one who entered the house through the back door, which was found open.

Confederate Veterans.

Cape Fear Camp No. 254 United Confederate Veterans will visit the Encampment in a body this afternoon. They will meet at the Seacoast depot at 2.15 p. m., and leave on the 2.30 train. All veterans, whether they have uniforms or badges or not, are cordially invited. After dress parade, the members of the Camp will call on Mrs. Thos. J. ("Stonewall") Jackson, who will be at the Encampment.

Our Presidential Pictures.

The pictures of the Democratic candidates for President and Vice President respectively, printed in the STAR to-day, are faithful likenesses, having been made from the latest photographs. We have at the STAR office a photograph of Mr. Bryan, and a comparison of it with the picture printed to-day shows that the engravers and electrotypers have done their work well.

One Cent a Word.

Hereafter advertisements to go in our "Business Locals" department will be charged one cent per word for each insertion; but no advertisement, however short, will be taken for less than 20 cents. This is a reduction from former rates and it is also a convenience to advertisers, who can calculate the exact cost of their advertisements, which must be paid for always in advance.

The Two-Dollar Rate.

The Carolina Central made no mistake when it put on a cheap rate for Wilmington, and as a result it will be richer at the close of the season by several thousand dollars than it would otherwise have been. At the outset, says the Charlotte News, we said the Charlotte people would show their appreciation of the cheap rate and it has done so. The crowd of travellers has been growing larger and larger each Saturday. This morning the ticket seller issued 185 tickets to Charlotte people and four cars were required for the crowd. It was a rainy morning too.

CONVENTION DATES.

Populist National Convention, St. Louis, July 22.

Silver National Convention, St. Louis, July 22.

Democratic Congressional Convention 6th District—Rockingham, August 2th.

— The Epworth League of Grace M. E. Church will hold its regular monthly meeting in the lecture room of the church to-night. An interesting programme will be presented by its literary department. The members of the league and of the congregation are invited to attend.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Sensations of a Charlotte Editor Who Came, Saw and Was Conquered—Wilmington Played the Game of Hospitality to the Limit.

From an article written by Editor Caldwell for the Charlotte Observer of Sunday, the STAR makes the following extracts:

"In the history of the North Carolina Press Association it has held no more delightful meeting than the one of last week at Wilmington.

* * * * * * *

The pleasures of this occasion were out of sight. On the occasion of a press convention it is really rather more pleasure to sit around with a cigar in mouth and one's heels planted on a curb stone or one's legs thrown over the railing of an hotel veranda and talk shop with the brethren than to hear set speeches or laborious discussions in formal session. The brethren were never more genial than at this meeting and the writer never enjoyed their companionship more.

As for Wilmington, it played the game to the limit. Every editor toted a pass not only there and back home, but to every point in the vicinity that any one cared to go to—over the street car line, over the Wilmington Seacoast Railway, on the steamer Wilmington.

* * * * * * *

Thursday the editors accepted the courtesy of Capt. J. W. Harper, of the steamer Wilmington, and accompanied him down the river to Southport and the bar. * * * *

Nothing could have exceeded the cleverness of Capt. Harper, and it is not too much to say that a trip to Wilmington which does not include a trip with him down the river on his elegant boat is a trip lost. This one was made all the more agreeable by reason of the presence of Mr. James H. Chadbourn, Jr., president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. F. L. Huggins, of the special committee of the Chamber, having the entertainment of the editors in charge, the latter of whom served lunch on the hurricane deck and proved that life could be made worth living.

The rooms of the Chamber of Commerce were at the service of the editors during their session and the chamber as a whole extended to the Association every wanted courtesy. Nothing that they needed was left unprovided for and the crowning act of all was the invitation to the Association to make Wilmington its permanent headquarters. So delighted were the editors with the kindness they had received, with the city and its surrounding attractions, that a motion to accept this invitation could not have been trusted safely before the body—it would have been likely to accept it and thus anchored itself for life.

The Observer's representative will never get done thinking of this trip and the memory will be a joy forever. All North Carolina knows how "lovely" (as the girls say) Wilmington is and she never showed herself to better advantage than she did last week. The writer was at all times under the eye of Bell, of the Messenger, or Bernard, of the STAR, until Friday morning, when Clawson, the Messenger's wide-awake city editor, took him in hand and did the rest.

The Orton was the headquarters and furnished capital entertainment. Surely Wilmington has a first-class hotel.

The press men who missed this meeting—well, they missed it.

If there is anything you want, advertise for it. Is there anything you don't want? Advertise it in the Business Locals of the STAR. One cent a word. But no ad. taken for less than 20 cents. tf

☞ "You tell us the great cities are in favor of the gold standard. Burn down your great cities and leave your farms, and your cities will grow up again. But destroy our farms and the grass will grow in every city of the Union."—From Wm. J. Bryan's speech before Democratic National Convention.

☞ "I am for McKinley, Russell and Gold," says Oscar J. Spears, one of the Republican candidates for Elector-at-Large.

☞ "I desire to meet Mr. Russell on the hustings of North Carolina. I want the people to hear us and decide between me and what I represent, and what I think he represents. With their decision I shall be content. If elected Governor of your State, I shall see that every man, no matter what his station in life or what his politics, is given every privilege granted him by the Constitution of North Carolina." —Cyrus B. Watson, Democratic candidate for Governor.

TO HELP McKINLEY.

It has not been announced what position President Cleveland and his official advisers will pursue in reference to supporting or opposing the ticket nominated at Chicago, but it may be pretty safely assumed that whether it meet with open opposition or not it will not meet with any countenance or encouragement from Washington. There are rumors to the effect that Mr. Cleveland will shortly write a letter expressive of his views and that in that letter he will favor the calling of a convention and the nomination of an opposition ticket. There is probably some foundation for this, but whether he write such a letter as this may depend upon the responses that come in to the third ticket call. If they be such as to give reason to believe that the convention would not prove a fizzle as to numbers and the prominence of those who would attend it, he may write the letter.

But no letter is necessary to indicate the feeling of Mr. Cleveland as to the Chicago platform and ticket for that has been pretty well foreshadowed by the utterances of those who come close enough to him to know his sentiments. Secretary Herbert did not hesitate to declare when asked what he would do that he would not support the ticket, and went so far as to characterize the platform as a Populistic one. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Hamlin, who went as one of the "sound money" missionaries to Chicago, said on his return to Washington that there would be "no politics" in the next campaign, that "all patriots should unite," &c., which meant that no Democrat is in fealty bound by the action of the Chicago Convention. The significance in this is that it was said by a high official after he had met and conversed with Secretary Carlisle, and the President. Comptroller Eckels, who also stands in pretty high feather at Washington and was one of the most mouthy of the so called "sound money" missionaries at Chicago, is one of the most zealous and loquacious promoters of the movement for another convention and for a third ticket. He emphasizes the importance of defeating the ticket nominated at Chicago by predicting "ruin and disaster" if it be elected. All these men are so devoted to the President, so tied to him that they would never have expressed themselves as they have if they had any doubt that in doing so they voiced his sentiments, so that from the developments so far we think it pretty safe to assume that Mr. Cleveland, his official advisers and the dependents who take their cue from him and them will not support the ticket nominated at Chicago, but in preference will give their indirect aid to McKinley.

Of course they haven't the shadow of a hope of electing a gold Democrat to the Presidency if one should be nominated, for they would have to depend altogether on the votes of men who call themselves Democrats, as they do. They couldn't draw from the Republican party, for the Republican gold men are pretty well satisfied with the St. Louis platform, since they were permitted to have a hand in the making of it. They consider it a gold platform, have got Mr. Hanna and his protege, McKinley, where they wanted them, and have no occasion to go outside of the Republican party to fight for gold. This being so the only effect of another so-called Democratic ticket would be to give the gold Democrats who would vote it a chance to throw their votes away, to divide the Democrats and to that extent help elect McKinley, whom the favorers of this movement would much rather see in the Presidential chair than Bryan.

We are not disposed to overlook the fact that Mr. Cleveland and those who stand close to him and are more or less under his influence feel very much chagrined at the outcome of the convention not only for adopting a free silver platform, but in nominating a ticket without asking the consent of the gold men who went there to tell it what to do, but also for refusing to endorse the Administration; but neither of these is a sufficient cause for sulking and fighting the party after they had gone into the convention and used all the resources within their command to carry it their way. If they had succeeded and silver Democrats did as they are now doing and propose to do, they would pronounce the silver sulkers very disloyal to the party. For months they knew that the silver men would have a majority in that convention, and that a free silver platform would be adopted, but they planned to obstruct further progress, prevent the nomination of a candidate, and thus render abortive the efforts of the free silver men, tire the convention out and force it to adopt some compromise acceptable to them. They voted on the platform and when their plans failed and they saw they could not prevent the nomination of a ticket, most of them refused to vote for President and Vice Presidential candidates. Knowing all this as they did, they should either not have gone into that convention, or they should have acquiesced in the result, loyally if not cheerfully.

If they could, when they failed to dictate the platform, they would have forced the silver men to secede, and then they would have claimed to be the regular convention and would have adopted a gold platform and nominated a ticket. But the silver men caught on to their game and blocked it. When they talk about a third ticket now they are simply saying what they had in view then in the event the convention went against them. If they nominate a ticket they may show their spite against the Chicago ticket, but that's all, for the ticket they put out will not receive votes enough to make them worth counting. There are thousands of Democrats who whether they approve of all that is in the Chicago platform or not, will not endorse that kind of party disloyalty and knifing and will not lend themselves to the election of McKinley and the restoration of the Republican party to power, with all that implies.

MINOR MENTION.

Senator Butler has been playing a very foxy game and he thinks he has been playing a shrewd one, but the trouble with Mr. Butler is that he overestimates his cunning when he imagines that he can fool everybody. He started out early playing for cooperation with the Democrats of this State and when he found he couldn't play the game he wanted with them he sidled over to the Republican side and has been feeling the chances of making an advantageous dicker with them. In the meantime his paper shoots darts at Senator Pritchard for going back on free silver and jumping on the gold band wagon behind Hanna and McKinley, and Mr. Butler writes editorials laudatory of Candidate Bryan but denunciatory of the party and convention which nominated him. His pecking at his colleague Pritchard is to make the Populists believe that he is really sincere in his professions for free silver, and his laudation of Bryan is to make his support easier in the event the convention which meets in St. Louis to-morrow decide to endorse him. In that case, while Mr. Butler is fighting hard to prevent the endorsement, he cannot consistently oppose him. But if Mr. Butler should make a deal with the Republican managers in this State. can he comply with the compact and deliver the goods? We don't believe he can. We don't believe he is "a bigger man than his party," or that he can lead the Populists of this State into the Russell camp. He may carry with him some of the aspirants who have their eye on the pie counter, but the honest masses of the people will see through the transparent trickery and hypocrisy that give the lie to the professions of loyalty to them and sincerety in the cause he pretends to advocate.

* * *

Senator Smith, of New Jersey, is what they call a "sound money" Democrat, but Senator Smith is a Democrat all the same, who doesn't believe in turning the Government over to the Republicans because the Democratic National Committee declined to let the gold standard men of the East and their representatives from other sections dictate the platform of the party and name its candidates. In the following extract from a letter to the chairman of the Democratic Committee of Essex county he talks sense and talks like a loyal Democrat:

While there may be some difference of opinion in our ranks on the financial question, I do not believe we are more unfortunate in this respect than our opponents. In my judgment neither the business men, the wage-workers of the country, nor the Republican party itself has much confidence in Mckinley. His position as a financier is shifting and uncertain His tariff views are destructive, if enforced, to national prosperity, and have twice been overwhelmingly repudiated. He was nominated by a financial syndicate, and not in response to any popular demand. His election would be a calamity.

New Jersey is one of the States which the Republicans were counting upon carrying on the tariff issue and with that view, to get a better hold on the State, they nominated Mr. Hobart for Vice President, and since the Chicago platform declared for free silver they have been counting upon the co-operation of gold standard Democrats. Senator Smith sees through their game, says so, and at the same time administers a deserved rebuke to those so called Democrats in high places for the aid and comfort they are giving the supporters of McKinley.

* * *

Minnesota is one of the States which the Republican managers had down on their slate, but the latest dispatches from St. Paul inform us that that the gold men are going to make "a hot fight." When they announce their determination to make a hot fight in a State in which they didn't regard it as necessary to make much of a fight, the inference is that they have made some unpleasant discoveries. They find themselves now confronted by a prospective solid array of free silver men, who for the time being will lay aside other issues to make a united fight for a change in the monetary system, the demand for which is made not only by Democrats and Populists, but by thousands of Republicans who have heretofore loyally supported the Republican party. We have little doubt that the alliance referred to in the St. Paul dispatch published in our press columns Sunday morning will be effected and this will mean a clear cut issue and a stand up fight between the friends of the double standard and the supporters of the single gold standard, as it should be everywhere.

The Baltimore Sun prides itself on the fact that it has always been a paper for the "plain people" Well, the Sun is a rattling good paper, but it is getting so badly tangled up in this gold business that the plain people may get to doubting whether it is really the paper for them.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— The gold Democrats might take advantage of Col. Watterson's absence and make him their nominee. Then there would be a march through the slaughterhouse to an open grave.—Washington Post, Ind.

—— Mr. William Bryan appears to have Mr. Benjamin Harrison's happy faculty of being able to make a good speech at every station he passes on his journeys. He has the advantage of Mr. Harrison, however, in having made at least one speech that was not forgotten as soon as it was made.—Charleston News & Courier, Dem.

—— It is Mr. Hanna's plan to have the manufacturers of the country give their employes "object lessons" on the financial question by reducing wages until the defeat of the Chicago ticket is assured. That is the old high tariff way of convincing workingmen, and the manufacturers took quite kindly to it while the McKinley law was in operation. —New York Journal, Dem.

—— It is unjust for the bolting Democratic papers and their Republican contemporaries to refer to the Democratic Convention as having been a gathering of Socialists because Tillman and Altgeld were prominent in the gathering. It should be remembered that Altgeld's alleged dominating influence was mostly on paper, and never materialized, while Tillman was hissed by many delegates and the audience every time there was an opening to do so. Altgeld and Tillman and their Socialistic and Anarchistic ideas were unmistakably condemned. —Savannah News, Dem.

Let The Whole World Know The Good Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Does

HEART DISEASE, has its victim at a disadvantage. Always taught that heart disease is incurable, when the symptoms become well defined, the patient becomes alarmed and a nervous panic takes place. But when a sure remedy is found and a cure effected, after years of suffering, there is great rejoicing and desire to "let the whole world know." Mrs. Laura Winegar, of Selkirk, Kansas, writes; "I desire to let the whole world know what Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has done for me. For ten years I had pain in my heart, shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in my leftside, oppressed feeling in my chest, weak and hungry spells, bad dreams, could not lie on either side, was numb and suffered terribly. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and before I finished the second bottle I felt its good effects, I feel now that I am fully recovered, and that Dr. Miles' Heart Cure saved my life."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Greensboro Record: S. Burton, a white man, was killed just beyond High Point last night by a train going north. Particulars are meagre, but it is thought he was asleep on the track.

— Morganton Herald: Some parties with a fiendish spirit nailed spikes into the logs of the Catawba River Lumber Company at some point where logs were deposited. This trick was discovered at the mill when the saw was ruined by contact with the iron spikes.

— Yadkin Ripple: The hard and continued rains and high water are doing great damage to growing crops, carrying off wheat by the shock, washing out bridges and trestles and tearing the roads up terribly through this section, making it almost impossible to travel with a vehickle.

— Raleigh News and Observer: Friday morning's train from Washington, south-bound over the Southern Railway, carried the first installment of a colony of people destined to Guilford county, North Carolina, where they have purchased a tract of land near Greensboro, and will make their future homes. These people are progressive and will do much towards advancing the agricultural interests of the South. They are excellent farmers, and will at once bring their land up to a high state of cultivation. The large tract of land purchased will be subdivided into small farms, and these forerunners will make improvements necessary to accommodate the other members of the colony, who will follow in a few weeks.

— Rockingham Index: The usually quiet and serene village of Midway was thrown into great exsitement last Saturday (11th inst.) by the rumor that one of its fairest and most lovely daughters had made an effort to end her own life. The people soon discovered the rumor to be based on good foundation. Miss Hattie Hanley, aged nineteen, bright and sprightly, had taken a large dose of arsenic, had swallowed ground glass mixed with dough, and nineteen match heads. It was found out shortly after she had taken them and physician was immediately summoned, but before he came Miss Haily was already partially relieved of the terrible dose she had taken. She was almost crazed for several days as a result, but she is all right now and regrets exceedingly her hasty act for which no cause is assigned.

A Fair Inference.

It is undeniable that actions often speak louder than words. A usurious money lender, who had for some time collected an extortionate interest from a debtor, sent his collector to the man, as usual, one day. The collector returned and reported to his employer that he could not collect the money.

"Do you mean to say that the man declared to you that he wouldn't pay the interest?" the usurer demanded furiously.

"He didn't declare so in so many words, but he gave me to understand so."

"How did he give you to understand so?"

"He kicked me down three flights of stairs!"—Youth's Companion.

In the Fast Tense.

"Say, 'mister,'" he called, with his head in the door of a Michigan avenue grocery, "do you own a hoss?"

"Yes; I own a horse," replied the grocer as he looked up from his paper.

"And a wagon?"

"Yes; what of it?"

"Nuthin, 'cept you are mistaken about the wagon," drawled the boy. "Your hoss took a skate down the street about five minits ago, and there hain't 'nuff of that there wagon left to make a club of."—Detroit Free Press.

Egyptian Superstition.

The Egyptian shopkeeper had a deity to whom he offered sacrifice every morning, and whose duty it was in return for this reverence to stand in front of the shop during the day a sort of celestial "barker" and direct the attention of the people passing by to the shop and its contents.

A FIRST DAY'S WORK.

"And Rosita, mother—what has become of her?"

Allan Fairfax asked the question with a perceptible heightening of the color in his brown cheek, bringing it in, as it were, carelessly, although it was the one question that had been in his mind all this first day of his return from a long East Indian absence.

"Oh, she married some fellow or other and—let me see—I believe she is dead!"

"You speak vaguely mother of your own niece?"

"Well, really, you know that Glen Fairfax's family never seemed like our own, and Rosita was always full of some whim or other."

Mrs. Fairfax thought to herself how fortunate it was that Rosita was out of her son's way.

"Allan would have been just absurd enough to renew the old engagement if he had had the ghost of an opportunity and now that Helen Farquarson, with all that property of hers, fancies him such a piece of chivalrous romance would have been simply absurd."

Mrs. Fairfax sailed out of the room and he was left alone.

"Married!" he muttered. "Oh, Rosita, how could you have so soon forgotten?"

* * * * *

"I know I could do it, mamma!"

"But, Rosita, only think of it," cried the poor little widow, wringing her helpless hands. "You, Glen Fairfax's daughter, stooping to such a menial occupation as that of a hairdresser, Rosita!"

"No, mamma," interrupted Rosita, laughing. "Give it the French grace of signification. Say coiffeuse."

And Rosita went out with a smile that seemed to turn her whole bright face to sunshine. "She is fit to be a princess," thought the mother, with a longing, lingering thrill of tenderness.

Mme. Lucile de Prenneror received her new workwoman very graciously.

"You are just in time, my dear," she said. "Ma foi, the orders that I have received today! If I had had 100 hands, they would all have been busy. Let me see. What are we to call you?"

"My nnnie is Ro"—

"Oh, true, true, but it was not of that I was thinking. I like my girls to adopt French names. Miss Meenie Dow is called here Nannette Dupont, and you—you are Marie Pelotte. You do not object? It gives us style, Parisian ton."

"I do not object," said Rosita, smiling at the oddity of the whim.

"Well, Marie Pelotte, you shall go out today. I have three orders—two dinner parties and a ball. Here are my plates du mode. Study them well and reproduce them on the heads of my patronesses. Do you think you can meet the emergency?"

"Certainly, ma'am."

"You will find the number of the streets and the hour of appointment on the card. You will charge $5 a head, and I look to you, Marie Pelotte, to sustain the well known honor of the Prenneror establishment."

Rosita went out at the appointed hour, her heart beating rather tumultuously, but nevertheless quite prepared to meet the onerous duties before her.

The first candidate, a little bewigged female, who was scarcely visible through the paint and powder on her face, was easily disposed of and was highly gratified at the amount of puffs that Rosita arranged for her.

"I like you, Pelotte," said this eccentric lady. "Tell Prenneror always to send you to me."

The second place was a mansion, with brownstone steps and velvet window draperies, fringed with gold. Mlle. Pelotte was shown into a boudoir whose elegance reminded her of other days by some strange, hidden link of association. Presently a pert looking girl came to her.

"My mistress will see you in her dressing room."

Rosita followed her into a room where a lady sat in a loose dressing wrapper of white mull, heavy black hair falling down her back—a lady whose haughty glance toward her as she beckoned her to approach filled her with nameless terror.

It was her aunt, Mrs. John Fairfax.

Evidently, however, she was herself unrecognized, and, gathering new courage from this, she glided round to the back of the chair and commenced her operations, secretly thanking the planets for Mrs. Fairfax's nearsightedness.

Mrs. Fairfax languidly opened a book and began to read, while Rosita, with trembling hands, proceeded to brush and arrange the heavy hair of the woman who turned coldly from them in their hour of need.

"How slow you are!" exclaimed Mrs. Fairfax impatiently after she had read a few pages. "You will never be through! Who is that at the door? Open it!"

But Rosita did not stir and the lady, concluding that the young Frenchwoman did not understand English, readily called out, "Come in!"

The door opened and Allan Fairfax entered, looking rather surprised as he did so.

"You are busy," said he, "and I will not"—

The half completed sentence died away on his tongue as he stood gazing at the golden haired girl who was behind his mother's chair.

"Rosita!" he exclaimed. "My Rosita!"

Mrs. Fairfax sprang up and applied her eyeglass to the hard black eyes that had played her so false.

"What does this mean?" she cried. But the girl replied to Allan alone.

"Not your Rosita!" she answered with spirit. "I am one of Mme. Prenneror's employees dressing your mother's hair. I do not scorn to earn my bread and that of my mother, whom that woman turned from her doors a year ago. Why did you not speak a word for us then, Mr. Fairfax?"

"I have been in India two years. But I wrote to you."

"I never received your letters."

"Mother," said Allan sternly, "will you give me an explanation of this?"

But Mrs. Fairfax had sunk into a chair, covering her face with her hands.

"You told me that Rosita was married; that she was dead!"—New York News.

How to Pronounce Iowa.

Speaker Reed not only pronounces it "Arkansaw," but has done so for several years, and so has every other well informed man in congress, and so a law of the state directs. By the way, some uniformity should be introduced in the pronunciation of Iowa. It is variously spoken in congress, "I-owah," "I-uway" and "Iowy," with the accent on the first syllable; "I-o-wy" and "I-o-way," with the accent on the second syllable, and "I-o-way," with the accent on the third syllable. None of these is correct. Senators Allison and Gear and the members of the Iowa delegation agree that "I-o-wah," with a little accent on the first and emphasis on the final syllable, is the only right thing.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Castoria

For Infants and Children.

Castoria promotes Digestion, and overcomes Flatulency, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, and Feverishness. Thus the child is rendered healthy and its sleep natural. Castoria contains no Morphine or other narcotic property.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 South Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

From personal knowledge and observation I can say that Castoria is an excellent medicine for children, acting as a laxative and relieving the pain of bowels and general system very much. Many mothers have told me of its excellent effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"For several years I have recommended 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M.D.,
125th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach."
CARLOS MARTYN, D.D.,
New York City.

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths, the Plain Facts, the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life, Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood, and How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this age and its men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, &c.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, &c.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday, and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cart load of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

ROBIN HOOD'S GOOD NIGHT.

Good night, good night, heart's dearest!
The hunter holds the sky—
There wakes no soul in Sherwood
Save Little John and I.
'Twixt thee and me the grasses
Grow thick and soft and green,
And falls a drift of hawthorn
O'er Sherwood's buried queen.
'Twixt thee and me, heart's dearest,
The grass is green.

Shall I not soon, heart's dearest,
Good morrow to thee say,
And kiss thy lips, of kisses
Forlorn for many a day?
Shall I bid thee good morrow,
Good night to Little John,
And lay me down beside thee
To slumber sweetly on,
Nor dream of lonely Sherwood
Nor Little John?

Shall we go seek, heart's dearest,
That land of afternoon
Where shepherds to their lasses
Pipe out a sleepy tune;
Where kings nor cares may enter,
And love grows never cold;
Where Allan walks, a-harping
A tune we knew of old?
Shall we not journey thither,
O heart of gold?
—Norn Hopper in Black and White.

His Maiden Speech.

The rising young politician had prepared an elaborate speech for the occasion. He rose in response to loud calls for him and felt in his inside pocket for the manuscript. It was gone. It had slipped through a hole in the bottom.

The situation was a terrible one, but the self possession of the rising young politician did not forsake him. Letting his hand remain in the breast of his coat he looked fearlessly out over the assembly.

"My fellow citizens," he said, "I have no—no words in which to express my thanks for the honor you have done me in selecting me as one of your standard bearers in this campaign, and I will simply ask you to join me"—

He was interrupted by deafening cheers, in which the other orators on the platform heartily joined.

The situation was still more terrible. He had intended merely to propose three cheers for the ticket, but the audience had jumped hastily to the conclusion that he was extending an invitation of another kind.

Still he did not lose his head.

"I see, fellow citizens," he resumed with a smile as soon as he could make himself heard again, "you understand me. Come on!"

He seized his hat, and the meeting adjourned at once to the saloon on the floor below. He had made the hit of the evening.—Chicago Tribune.

A Sartorial Mystery.

"I believe in a woman keeping away from her husband's place of business," said Mr. Bilson emphatically. "Let her exercise all the authority over a man she wants to in her own home, but let her at the same time keep away from his office."

"You speak as one who has had sad experience."

"I have had. My wife used to come to the office two or three times a week. Now I don't have any peace of mind."

"Is she of a jealous disposition?"

"Jealous? No. It's her affectionate interest in me that makes the trouble. She keeps me awake nights trying to explain to her why my clothes can't be made to look as well and fit as neatly and last as long as those of my smallest salaried clerk. It's making me positively gray headed. If I didn't know that it was the nature of my smallest salaried clerk to be well dressed I'd dismissed him long ago. But of course it would be wrong to punish a man for something he can't help. So I'm worrying along and living in the hope that if I keep my wife away from the office awhile she will forget all about how much better my smallest salaried clerk dresses than I do."—Detroit Free Press.

CREDITED MISS ROCKEFELLER.

She Couldn't Quite Understand Why the Shopman Was So Gracious.

A pretty story is told of Mrs. Harold McCormick while she was Miss Edith Rockefeller, showing the simple manner in which she regarded her father's great wealth.

The incident occurred when she was a pupil at one of the fashionable New York schools. She, with a party of girls from her class, presented herself at a certain furniture dealer's to choose a gift for a favorite teacher. The price of the pretty writing desk, however, was more than the sum in their possession. The girls suggested that if the desk was sent they would forward the balance as soon as possible.

The proprietor very politely, but also very decidedly, informed the girls that he could not do as they asked. "But," he said, "if you can think of any New York business man with whom any of your fathers are acquainted and who will vouch for you the matter may possibly be arranged."

"Why," said the daughter of the great petroleum magnate, "I think my papa has an office down on Broadway. Possibly we can get the money there."

"Who is your father?" queried the dealer.

"His name is Rockefeller," replied the girl simply; "John D. Rockefeller. He is in the oil business."

The merchant gasped and looked at the girl in amazement. "John D. Rockefeller your father? Is John D. Rockefeller good for $25?" he repeated in excitement.

Then he recovered his presence of mind sufficiently to order the desk packed up and sent immediately, while Miss Edith, very much astonished at his unwonted excitement, thanked him with pretty and simple grace.—Philadelphia Press.

The Mullein Plant.

We stopped to look at the downy content of that sober plant, the mullein. Many plants had the central leaves folded continuously one about another until a sort of large, gray green bud was formed, and in one of these buds a bee was taking an afternoon nap, snugly sheltered from the air, which was growing somewhat chilly. We thought that any prudent insect might find a comfortable winter home by asking the mullein to open its velvet leaves just a little and then to fold them tightly around the wanderer! And while we were speaking a bluebottle fly went humming past us, as if to say he had no mind yet to be asking shelter of any one!—Edith M. Thomas in St. Nicholas.

Artificial Eggs Barred.

"I wish to say," shouted that eminent tragedian, Mr. Barnes Tormer, "that the fiend who threw that china egg and knocked me breathless is nothing but a brute, with the instincts of an assassin. I am inured to ordinary expressions of disapproval, but this is more than flesh and blood can bear!"—Indianapolis Journal.

OBSTINACY OF LLAMAS

Mules Are Vacillating Compared With These Stubborn Brutes.

The boy called "U-pa!" to the llamas, lifting his finger as if to point them up the trail. Ordinarily they would have obeyed, but the aggressive manner of Barton had roused their obstinacy, and they did not budge. The boy put his shoulder to the ribs of one and heaved hard, but the brute stood its ground.

"Well, it is to wait!" said he and ran about the path, gathering up very small pebbles until his shabby hat was full. Then he sat down on a bowlder that jutted from the bank, settling himself as if for a long rest. Then he threw a mild and measured pebble at each llama. They turned their heads a little and wrinkled their disagreeable noses. He waited for some time and then pitched two more pebbles, which had the same effect. So he sat, slowly and mechanically tossing his harmless missiles upon the dense hair of his charges. Evidently he was in no hurry, and the two travelers, impatient as they were, had too much wisdom of experience to try to push him. They sat quietly in their saddles, watching the droll scene. It was very ridiculous to need deliverance from two stupid beasts and to get it from such an owlish little tatterdemalion. His ragged clothing was of very thick, coarse cloth, and upon his feet were the clumsy yanquis or rawhide sandals of mountain Peru, and he wore thick stockings rising to his knees. Over his trousers was a curious garment, half apron and half leggings, and over sleeves of the same material, hung with a cord about his neck, came up over the elbows of his coat. These two garments were knit in very strange patterns, amid which were square, brown llamas wandering up and down a gray background. Around his waist was a woven belt, now very old, but of beautiful colors and workmanship. And his face—what a brown, round riddle!

"How do you call yourself, friend?" asked the professor in Spanish. "And have you 10 years or 100?"

"Ramon Ynga, senor. And the other I do not know. I have been here a long time—ever since they built the mill at Casapalca."

"You must be about 15 then. And where do you live?"

"There, above," answered Ramon, tossing another pebble.

"A curious habit of the mountaineers," said the professor. "These mountain Indians, instead of living in the valleys, climb to the very tops of these peaks, and build there their squalid stone hovels. They seem to think nothing of the eternal clambering up and down."

An hour crawled by, and the stones in Ramon's hat were running low. Suddenly the brown llama turned with a snort of disgust, and strode off up the trail. The gray one hesitated a moment, snorted—and followed. "That way they got tired, sirs," said the boy, emptying his hat and pulling it down upon his thatch of black hair.

"I'd take a good club to them!" growled Barton, who had great confidence in the Saxon way of forcing things.

"No, the boy is quite right. It is another case where you must not try to be smarter than nature. The llama is the stubbornest brute alive; a mule is vacillating, compared with him. If you put a pound too much on his load, he will lie down, and you might beat him to death, or build a fire beside him, but he would not get up. Nobody but a Peruvian Indian can do anything with a Peruvian camel, and Ramon has just shown us the proper tactics. Hurt the animal, and he only grows more sullen; but the pebbles merely tease him until he can bear it no longer. And really he repays patience when he behaves well, for he is the only animal that can work effectively at these terrific altitudes, where horses and mules are practically useless. But adelante" (forward,) the professor concluded.—Charles F. Lummis in St. Nicholas.

The Lord Mayor's Costumes.

London's lord mayor has to put on three suits of clothes on taking office. He wears a wide sleeved, velvet faced, fur trimmed robe of purple silk rep on presenting himself to the lord chancellor at Westminster; this he uses afterward as a police magistrate. For his show he wears a robe of superfine scarlet broadcloth, faced with sable fur and lined with pearl satin; this he must wear when greeting the judges at the Old Bailey and on All Saints' days. The dress for evening and formal receptions is a black damask satin robe, embroidered with silver gilt. Under these he wears a velvet coat and knee breeches. The robes are perquisites of the office and cost $1,000. The chain of the office has on it diamonds worth $600,000, and each lord mayor must give bonds for its safe return on receiving it. When the queen passes through the city, a fourth robe is necessary; but, as that seldom happens, it is bought only when the occasion arises.

The Gate Where "Poor Joe" Died.

"Tom All Alone's," the dismal graveyard in Russell court, Drury lane, immortalized by Dickens in the Poor Joe episode of "Bleak House," is now almost an open space, owing to the extensive demolitions in the neighborhood. The old dismal passage and steps have gone, and the yard is paved and laid out as a poor children's gymnasium, but the sullen looking gate with the rust eaten bars still remains, and is, like the space, in the custody of the London common council. — London News.

Why He Didn't Take His Wife to Ride.

A professor of mathematics in an eastern college is so completely absorbed in his profession that he is becoming more and more absentminded every day. Not long ago he said to one of the students, "You see, I wanted to take my wife out for a drive and give her some fresh air, but when I came to make preparations I suddenly remembered that I never had a wife."—Golden Days.

Bullet Marks In a Church Door.

An interesting discovery has been made at the Church of St. Mary, with St. Andrew, Tenyham, in Kent. The western door recently underwent renovation, and the removal of all superficial covering disclosed that the portal was of fine massive oak, which, on examination, was found to be scarred in several places with bullet marks. There are eight distinct punctures, in some of which the leaden bullets still remain imbedded. It is supposed that they were fired into the door by some of Cromwell's soldiers when engaged in the spoliation and desecration of the Kentish churches.—London Letter.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO.

HOW TO CURE YOURSELF WHILE USING IT.

The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco to an inveterate user becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. "Baco-Cure" is a scientific cure for the tobacco habit, in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Berlin physician who has used it in his private practice since 1872, without a failure. It is purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want while taking "Baco-Cure." It will notify you when to stop. We give a written guarantee to cure permanently any case with three boxes, or refund the money with 10 per cent. interest. "Baco-Cure" is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew or smoke.

Cured By Baco-Cure and Gained Thirty Pounds.

From hundreds of testimonials, the originals of which are on file and open to inspection, the following is presented:

Clayton, Nevada Co., Ark., Jan. 26.

Eureka Chemical & Mfg. Co., La Crosse, Wis.—Gentlemen: For forty years I used tobacco in all its forms. For twenty-five years of that time I was a great sufferer from general debility and heart disease. For fifteen years I tried to quit, but couldn't. I took various remedies, among others "No To Bac," "The Indian Tobacco Antidote," "Double Chloride of Gold," etc., etc., but none of them did me the least bit of good. Finally, however, I purchased a box of your "Baco-Cure" and it has entirely cured me of the habit in all its forms, and I have increased thirty pounds in weight and am relieved from all the nervous aches and pains of body and mind. I could write a quire of paper upon my changed feelings and condition.

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 21, 1896

FOR BRYAN AND SEWALL.

A Leading Republican and the Wealthiest Man in Wisconsin Declares for the Democratic Nominees and the Chicago Platform.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KENOSHA, WIS., July 20.—A great surprise was sprung on the political circles of this section to-day by the announcement that Z. G. Simmons, by long odds the wealthiest man in Southern Wisconsin, has declared himself as unequivocally in favor of the election of Bryan and Sewall, and has endorsed the entire Chicago platform. Mr. Simmons is president of the First National bank, owns large business blocks, is president of the Northwestern Wire Mattress Company and of the Northwestern Telegraph Company, whose wires now form under lease a great portion of the Northwestern system of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and controls large holdings in railway stocks. He has always been an unwavering adherent of the Republican party and an advocate of high protection. He says that the time has gone by for high tariffs and that in the advocacy of the money question the people who made the platform in Chicago acted in the true interest of the people. His two sons have also joined the party.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

September Wheat, Corn and Oats Closed Dull and Lower—Pork Products Declined on Large Receipts of Hogs.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, July 20.—The influence of the continued decline in the New York stock market was the principal bear argument used in wheat to-day, the options opening in a debilitated manner. The selling of stocks by London and the demand for gold exports were twin features. September wheat opened from 56⅛@56⅜c, sold between 56⅜c and 56⅝c, closing at 56⅛@56⅜c—⅛@⅝c under Saturday's price. Cash wheat was ⅛@⅛c lower early, but closed with a firmer tone.

Corn was assisted in its downward tendency by the favorable weather conditions for that grain. September corn opened from 26⅞ to 26⅛c., sold 26⅞ to 26⅛c., closing at 26⅛ to 26⅜c.—⅝ to ⅝c. lower than Saturday. Cash corn was easy all day and closed ⅛ to ⅝c. lower than Saturday.

Oats—The cash market acted in a contradictory manner and closed with a firm to steady feeling. September oats closed ⅛c. lower than Saturday.

Provisions—Heavy receipts of live hogs, 34,000, when but 28,000 were anticipated, caused a reduction in that branch of 5c. September pork closed 2½c. lower than Saturday, September lard 10c. lower and September ribs 10 to 12½c. lower.

SPOTS AND FUTURES.

New York Sun's Review of the Cotton Market.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The Sun says: Cotton closed unchanged as compared with the opening, but at a net advance of one to four points as compared with Saturday's closing prices, excepting August, which declined three points. The closing was steady after sales of 84,800 bales.

To-day's features: The advices from Liverpool to-day were better than had been expected in view of a decline in prices here on Saturday. But Liverpool came higher and prices here advanced in response. But the improvement was soon lost, owing to the break in the stock market, and besides Liverpool reacted before the close and the sales on the spot there were smaller than they have been of late. There was an absence of local support. The last prices, however, showed a small improvement as compared with Saturday's closing. Late on Saturday there was a good business done here on the spot for export and Liverpool sent buying orders to-day.

ST. LOUIS CONVENTIONS

THE BRYAN PROPAGANDA RECEIVING SUPPORT OF MANY POPULISTS.

Chairman Jones of the Democratic National Commitee Engineering the Bryan Boom Skillfully—He Insists that Not Only Bryan But Sewall Shall Be Nominated—The Plan of Compromise Suggested—A Representative Each of the Populist and National Silver Parties to be Appointed on the Democratic National Committee.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—Although the Bryan propaganda is receiving the support of many of the Populist leaders, the real work of advancing his interests has been entrusted to Senator Jones, of Arkansas, the chairman of the National Democratic Committee. It must be said for Jones that he is engineering the Bryan boom skillfully and it is none the less skillful because the Arkansas Senator chooses to remain quietly in the background. He has his headquarters at the Planters' Hotel, where he has been receiving all the morning certain of the prominent Populists who desire Bryan's nomination by their convention. The proposition which Jones advances is this:

In return for Populist and Silver support, one member of each party will be placed on the Democratic National Executive Committee. In States where the Populists greatly outnumber the Democrats the Populists are to control the nominations for Congress and the principal State officers. In other States, where the strength of the Democrats is more uniform, a satisfactory arrangement will be made with respect to the State and Congressional tickets, the purpose in each case being to secure the election of free silver representatives to the House. The scheme finds great favor with such of the Populists as Jones has consulted. The argument of the latter is that if Bryan is not nominated half of the Populists, in the West especially, will vote for him and that the effect of this will be to disrupt the party. It may be stated in this connection that Jones insists strenuously that not only shall Bryan be nominated, but Sewall as well. At last night's conference he insisted that these conditions should be rigidly adhered to, and he flatly refused to entertain any proposition that looked only to the nomination of Bryan and the repudiation of the Democratic nominee for the second place on the ticket.

Senator Jones sent for Jerry Simpson, with other Populist leaders, and explained to him something of the details of the proposition he had to offer. Gov. Stone, of Missouri, was present, also T. M. Patterson, head of the contesting Colorado delegation for seats in the Populist Convention. Senator Jones said the important thing was that the campaign should be conducted not only harmoniously, but unitedly by all the silver forces, and to that end he pledged himself should the convention in St. Louis this week endorse or nominate Bryan and Sewall, to appoint as members of the Democratic National Executive Committee in charge of the campaign, a representive each of the Populists and National Silver parties. The advantage of this, it was explained, would be that these representatives, together with one of the Democratic party on the executive committee, could go to States where it was necessary to make an adjustment of local mattes, growing out of the divison of voters and perfect and execute that adjustment with satisfaction to all parties, and it would be binding upon all.

Gov. Stone, it is said, added his endorsement to the pledge by Senator Jones.

This conference lasted an hour or more, and a knowledge of what occurred and the promise made had an exhilarating effect upon the effort to secure the endorsement of the nomination of Bryan by the Populist Convention.

THE RAILWAY SERVICE.

Report of the Inter-State Commerce Commission Showing Increase in Mileage and Revenues.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The report of the Inter-State Commerce Commission for the year ended June 30th, 1896, shows the total mileage in the country on that date 180,657 miles, an increase of 1,948. During the year four routine roads were abandoned, nine merged, thirty-two reorganized and twenty-eight consolidated. There appears from the report to have been a decrease in passenger service, and an increase in freight service during the year, and an increase in the number of men employed by railways of 5,426 as compared with the previous year. There was an increase in the amount of railway capital during the year, aggregating $188,729,812. The gross earnings of the railways for the year ending June 30, 1896, were $1,075,371,463, an increase of $3,009,665. Passenger revenue was $252,946,180, showing a decrease of $30,502 549. The number of railway employes killed during the year was 1,-811, and the number of injured was 24,696, a decrease of 19 killed and an increase of 2,274 injured, as compared with the previous year. The number of passengers killed was 170, injured 2,375, showing a decrease of 154 in the number killed and 659 in those injured.

The statistician recommends that Congress shall be requested to provide for a bureau of statistics and accounts, which shall have the right of inspection and control over the accounting departments of the common carriers.

DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS

No Place Yet Selected and None Will be Until Chairman Jones Meets Mr. Bryan.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—It can be stated on authority that no place has yet been selected as the headquarters of the Democratic National Executive Committee, and none will be until Chairman Jones meets Mr. Bryan. Mr. Jones, after he leaves St. Louis, where he now is, will go to his home in Arkansas. From there he will go to Lincoln, Neb., and pay Mr. Bryan a visit. The two will then confer on the subject. The choice for headquarters has narrowed between Washington and Chicago, with the chances at present in favor of the former city, though it is altogether probable that a sub-headquarters may be established in Chicago.

HORRIBLE MURDERS

COMMITTED BY A WOMAN ON A SHANTY BOAT ON THE OHIO.

A. J. Call and Daughter Killed—Another Daughter Fatally Injured and Two Children in a Critical Condition—A Georgia Tragedy.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CINCINNATI, July 20.—A special to the Post from Huntington, W. Va., says: Six miles above here at the mouth of Three-mile Creek occurred one of the most horrible murders ever known in the upper Ohio waters. The scene was on a shanty boat and the killed are: A. J. Call, forty-five years of age; Nettie Call, his daughter, twenty-four years of age; Lottie Call, another daughter, is fatally injured, and those in a critical condition are: Grace Call, eleven years of age and Otis Call, thirteen years of age.

Late last night Call and his family retired. Etta Robbins, 24 years of age, was at their house and retired with one of the daughters. A little boy who was sleeping with the father makes the following statement, he being the only one outside the Robbins woman able to talk. He said: At 8 o'clock this morning I was awakened by Etta Robbins cutting my father with a double bit-axe. My sisters Lottie and Nettie ran into our room and Miss Robbins turned on them. She killed Nettie and cut Lottie four times, when Lottie leaped from the boat into the river. She then cut several of us children and threw the axe at Lottie, who was swimming to the shore." The woman acknowledged the killing of A. J. Call, but denies killing the others. Call's head was almost cut off and his heart was visible from a wound inflicted in his breast. The head of the girl killed was also almost cut off and her heart cut out. The children were cut in a dozen places. A coroner's jury was empanelled. The verdict was that Etta Robbins committed the murders. The boat was cut loose and brought here and the woman placed in jail. Feeling is very strong and thousands of excited people line the river bank and many threats are heard.

SAVANNAH, GA., July 20.—Last night about midnight John Harris, Jr., shot and, it is believed, fatally wounded his uncle, C. L. Harris. He gave himself up to the sheriff at Jesup this morning. The story of the shooting is as follows: C. L. Harris, being intoxicated, went to the house of John Harris, his nephew, called him out of the house, provoked a quarrel with him, then fired two shots at him from his pistol, neither of which took effect, John Harris then shot at his uncle four times, striking him each time.

GOVERNMENT FINANCES

Condition of the Gold Reserve—Withdrawals—A Bond Issue May Be Averted if National Banks Come to the Relief of the Government.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The gold reserve to-day declined to $89,761,836 with withdrawals $3,706,800, of which $3,080 000 was for exports. The large amount, nearly $675,000, taken presumably for "hoarding" purposes, was regarded by Treasury officials as the unfavorable feature of the day's transactions. For the past two weeks small amounts of gold for the purpose have been withdrawn, but to-day's withdrawals for that purpose are larger than for any one day this year. A reassuring rumor which reached here to the effect that the New York national banks have formed a pool and will turn into the Treasury $20,000,000 in gold for legal tenders was well received by Treasury officials. It was pointed out that they were amply able to do so. Mint Director Preston on July 1 estimated that there was in the United States $598,000,000 in gold and by the last report, the national banks of the United States had $178,000,000 and the national banks of New York alone had of this sum $46,000,000. This total has been increased since then and is doubtless now nearly $50,000,000. The administration's policy to keep the gold reserve up to a point of confidence has never wavered. This policy, it is stated, will be maintained even if a new bond issue is therefor made necessry. Already four bond issues have been put forth amounting to $362 315,000, from which was realized $295,444,271. These issues have increased the annual interest charge nearly $9,000,000 a year. On March 4, 1893, there was in the Treasury $103,000,000 in gold. This amount added to the sum realized from the bond sales since make $396,000,000. By subtracting from this amount the gold on hand to-day, $89 000,000, shows that since March 4, 1893, $307,000,000 in gold have been withdrawn. Treasury officials attribute the heavy withdrawals to foreign holders of American securities throwing them upon the market.

In view of the fact that the Treasury has lo t since July 1 $18,000,000 in gold and still indications point to further withdrawals this week, officials who have had confidential relations with all former bond issues say that it will be much easier and more advantageous to the Government if a bond issue has to be made, to do it before the gold reserve reaches the limit of $60,000,000. If the national banks, however, it is said, come to the relief of the Treasury a bond issue may be averted altogether, certainly for the next few months.

SOUTH CAROLINA RIVERS.

Improvement in the Navigation of the Waccamaw and Pee Dee.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Capt. F. V. Abbot, in charge of river and harbor improvements in North and South Carolina, reports to the War Department that the Waccamaw river is now safely navigable over the whole improved portion, which extends further up every year, most of the snags having been removed the past season. The Little Pee Dee was roughly worked over during the year and the worst obstructions removed. The lower part of the Great Pee Dee has been put in good condition and the proposed improvement is nearly completed

TREASURY GOLD RESERVE.

New York Banks Will Come to the Aid of the Government.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The banks of New York will come to the aid of the Government and supply gold to the Treasury Department from their vaults in exchange for legal tenders. The movement to this end was started by Frederick D. Tappan, president of the Gallatin National Bank, who said: "It is hoped that something definite will be done to-morrow. I have been surprised at the alacrity with which bank officers have responded to the request to cooperate in replenishing the Treasury gold reserve."

COLORADO REPUBLICANS

Announce That They Will Support Bryan and Sewall for President and Vice President.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MANITOU, COL., July 20.—The committee of bolting Republicans who have been in session here for several days, made public a manifesto, in which they say:

"We deem it fitting that we, who have heretofore affiliated with the National Republican party, and who have rejected the financial plank of the platform adopted at St. Louis and refused to support the nominees of the convention, should state our position in the Presidential campaign and give briefly our reasons in support thereof.

"When certain delegates to the National Republican Convention repudiated the financial plank of the platform and withdrew from the convention, we determined that we would give our support to such candidates as should appear most willing and capable of aiding in the restoration of silver to its rightful place as a standard money.

"The Democratic party has, at the Chicago Convention, taken a position in its platform so pronouncedly favorable to silver and has nominated candidates of such unquestionable conviction in favor of the bimetallic policy and of such high personal character that we have determined to give them our support. We support such candidates because they represent the great principles of bimetallism which we believe to be the cause of humanity, of civilization and the paramount question now before the American people.

"We, therefore, announce that we shall by voice and vote support Messrs. Bryan and Sewall for President and Vice President, and we appeal to all citizens and especially Republicans who feel as we do, that gold monometallism would be of lasting injury to the country, to act with us in securing their election."

RAILROAD RATE WAR.

A Sweeping Reduction on All Business to Southern Points from New York, Boston and Philadelphia by the Seaboard Air Line.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BALTIMORE, July 20.—The war in rates which was inaugurated last week by the Baltimore Steam Packet Company (Old Bay Line) and the Seaboard Air Line against the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Richmond Steamboat Company (York River Line) and the Southern Railway Company was enlivened today by a further slashing of the tariff.

The Southern Railway Company today met the reduction of 88⅓ per cent. on passenger and freights to points south of Baltimore, whereupon the Seaboard Air Line announced a corresponding reduction on all business from Boston, Providence, New York and Philadelphia to the South and tonight went their competitors one better by cutting 83⅓ per cent. more off the old rate from Baltimore to Southern points. The single fare from New York to Atlanta will be $15.00. The rate was formerly $24.00. From Baltimore to Richmond and Norfolk, Va., the rate is $1.00 as against $3.00 before the war began. As low rates in proportion will be established to all points as far south as New Orleans, the cut of 83⅓ per cent. in freight rates covers all classes of freight in the territory as far east as Boston. This is the most sweeping reduction ever made in rates by any Southern line, and it is given out that it is only started.

President R. C. Hoffman, of the S. A. L., said to-day: "We are in the fight to stay. The controversy was forced upon us against our will, and whatever demoralization in rates ensues will be upon the shoulders of those who made the issue and not us."

KANSAS CITY BANKS

Have Ceased Issuing Gold in Payment of Checks or Withdrawals of Deposits.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KANSAS CITY, MO., July 20.—All Kansas City banks to-day ceased issuing gold, either in exchange for bills as payment of checks or withdrawals of deposits. Cashier Rule, of the Bank of Commerce, who returned from St. Louis this morning, said the banks there will take the same action. The reason given by the bankers here for this move is that it was the evident intention of many depositors to withdraw their deposits in gold and hoard the yellow metal in the belief that it will go to a premium.

Monsignor Satolli, who was recently created a Cardinal, will retain his functions as apostolic delegate in the United States until the next Papal Consistory, when he will go to Rome and receive the Cardinal's hat.

The dry goods market opens the week with very little change in general conditions. Buyers have been in limited attendance, and business through salesmen on the road and through representatives of out of town houses has been moderate also.

The sum of $3,880,000 gold was withdrawn from the sub-Treasury at New York yesterday. Of this amount $3,080,000 is for export to Europe on to-day's steamer. The remaining $850,000 was taken by Canadian bankers, but not for export to Canada.

The Populist State Convention of Kentucky adopted a resolution that the party in that State is unalterably opposed to the endorsement by the National Convention of the People's party at St. Louis, of the Democratic platform and ticket nominated at Chicago.

CAMPAIGN HATS AND BADGES.

Mr. I. Shrier, the old reliable and popular clothier, who holds forth in the commodious store corner of Front and Princess streets, as usual always ahead of competitors, has secured a big supply of campaign hats and badges. He is the general agent for one of the largest manufacturing firms of these goods in America and expects o sell by the wholesale to firms throughout the Southern States and has sent out circulars from Virginia to Texas. He will retail them in this city and being one of our enterprising merchants, there is little doubt but what his enterprise will be a popular one and very successful. Four years ago Mr. Shrier wholesaled campaign hats in the Southern Statss and met with great success. He sells these hats at the same prices as the biggest jobbers in America. The Bryan hats are white "Alpines" with silver cord bands, and the McKinley hats are old gold "Alpines" with gold cords. They are very pretty hats and are of excellent quality. All orders sent to I. Shrier, Front and Princess streets, Wilmington, N. C., will receive prompt attention. He expects to send out not less than 500 dozen hats in the next two months.

Mr. Shrier will employ a few good agents to sell the campaign hats, buttons and badges who can earn $3 to $5 day. Write for circulars and prices.

A Child Enjoys

The pleasant flavor, gentle action, and soothing effect of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be costive or bilious, the most gratifying results follow its use; so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.
